Marc Anthony, Cain's Lullaby

From the silence From the night Comes a distant lullaby Cry remember that first cry Your brother standing by And lot of love Beloved [that] sons of mine Sing a lullaby Mother is close by Innocent date such innocent eyes And he stole your brothers life Came home murdered piece of mine Left you nightmares on my pillow Sleep now Sole surrendering your soul The harm your not whole For love but love Walked on Cast into the dawn Branded with them all Of shame of Cain From a garden of those light To our wilderness of night Sleep now Sleep now