

Marc Bolan, The Beginning Of Doves

Egyptian song singer how it's always been
Only crystal legends know I've lost the Kissing Ring
The ring was golden small, unseen to those who crawl
For lovers all walk tall, they've seen most everything
The ring was the thing that made it all begin, doo-doo-da
The ring was the thing that made it all begin, doo-doo-da

The battle sins of some are acquainted
With a son who only walks at night with shoes in pulling time
The legend on him snag, and making it all a drag
When the Kissing Ring is found, they'll destroy the only sound

The ring was the thing that made it all begin, doo-doo-da
The ring was the thing that made it all begin, doo-doo-da