

Marc Nelson, Compass Love

Just like the wind blows to the east coming from the west
I point in your direction just like the birds fly from the north headed for the south
your love is like perfection
When I first saw you I knew I had to change
'cause everything I used to do It just don't feel the same when you stored into my eyes You stole my heart now I just can't see my life with you and me apart
Just like the wind blows to the east
coming from the west
just like the birds fly from the north
headed for the south
your love is like perfection
Every day and every night I wanna cry
'cause I just don't understand How God could bless my life with you I'm happy with you I'm never sad I claim you as the only one you're the ebst I ever had Bridge
you are more precious than pearls you are everything, girl, it's true and I would eve give my life with no fuss or fight but let's just make sweet love tonight
Just like the wind blows to the east
coming from the west
just like the birds fly from the north
headed for the south
