

Marduk, Scorched Earth

Warcries pierces the autumn mist
Gunfire penetrate frontlines
Panzers storming as an iron fist
Gunfire penetrate frontlines
Steel and fire collide with a crash
Panzers plunge into the front
Crushing the bodies of the foes with a splash
Panzers plunge into the front
Scorched earth
The soil soaked with blood
On the ground nothing more can burn
Scorched earth
The absence of god
A mistake the enemy will learn
Blowtorch battalion burning the flank
As fanatics the foes they attack
The thousand soldiers with battletanks
As fanatics the foes they attack
Through the Losheim pass striving on to the west
They seal their fate and their souls
Leaving their prisoners in eternal rest
They seal their fate and their souls
Attacking - the holy cause must be fulfilled
No mercy - take pride in the thrill of the kill
Omens - the horoscope of time shows war
Victory - forevermore
Indefatigable battalions of storm
Destined to kill and be killed
Spearheads which rolling relentless they form
Destined to kill and be killed
The griffin protects us with beak and with claws
No enemy can bring forth our death
We must win to save us from our death
We must win to save us from the plagues grasping jaws
No enemy can bring forth our death
Scorched earth
The soil soaked with blood
On the ground we draw our last breath
Scorched earth
We meet our god
But our banner is greater than death
Scorched earth - two hundred thousand men have died
Scorched earth - tunnel of light in high tide
Scorched earth - nothing new in history
Scorched earth - massive death for our glory