

Maria, Miss You

I know i told you i don't feel the way i used to
I know i said things that were hard to accept from me
But please believe that now tha pain's catching up with me
Tell me how can i make you see
That, baby, all the hurt i've caused, i'm making up for it now
And i've had some time all to myself and i think i've figured it out

I never miss you 'til you're gone away from me
I took your love for granted, now it's killing me
And every time it happens this way, right when i let you go
I mean stay, and i never miss you 'til you're gone away from me

And it's so funny 'cause i never though i'd feel like this now
And if you never come back what am i to do now
Will i ever mend this broken heart, i know i'm the one to blame
Know i need you in my life for everything to be the same
Was searching for someone i thought would be everything i need
When love was right in front of me