

Marianne Faithfull, You can't go where the roses

Today I saw the roses die, The ones that we picked out. And I turned around to cry, I could not help