Marika, Just call

But they cast a spell on me and my thoughts can't get through to resch you, like they used to do. Minutes drag on, seem like hours Much to long.
I'll do antything just to hear you Just call me And all my fears Will disappear These are so many things I could do right now And there's nothing I actually can do I'm trying in vain not to thing about you Minutes drag on seem like hours Much too long...