

Marilyn Manson, I Have to Look Up Just to See Hell

The fruit is speechless
before our sorceries
the party has just begun.
Time-lapse and dancing and rotting in place,
and we have reached the high end of low
The high end of low
You can take me
The grave can take me
The earth is waiting to eat us alive
I love you damaged
I need human wreckage
I Have to Look Up
Just to See Hell
Fallen, fallen, fallen from grace now for you
this is why you should run
The core of a woman is where her body
chooses to revolve like a corpse.
centrifugal, melted under the skin,
bacteria...
into the napalm heart i explode,
I explode
You can take me
The grave can take me
the earth is waiting to eat us alive
I love you damaged
I need human wreckage
I have to look up just to see hell
the light shines in the darkness and the darkness will never understand it.
