

Martin Kesici, After the end of the world

You don't believe that love can last always prepared for disaster stuck on the ground with fear of fly