

Martina McBride, All the things we've never done

They drank their anniversary glass A silent moment passed Then they kissed She knows there's so