

Martina McBride, I Won't Close My Eyes

I don't wanna think
That you could be runnin' around
After all the love
That I have shown you

I won't knock on your door
I won't call to see if you're home
But I won't close my eyes

Love's a matter of trust
And I just want to believe in us
But last night in your kiss
I felt a lie on your lips

I won't knock on your door
I won't call to see if you're home
But I won't close my eyes

There are two kinds of love
Those who are true and those untrue
I see black and white
Are you somewhere lost between the two

I won't knock on your door
I won't call to see if you're home
I won't knock on your door
I won't call to see if you're home
But, I won't close my eyes
No, I won't close my eyes

I don't wanna think
That you could be runnin' around
