

Marty Robbins, Completely Out Of Love

We could always find tomorrow when a problem came our way
We could reach back in a storehouse full of love
Now we can't find tomorrow or run back to yesterday
'Cause this time we've run completely out of love

This time there's no tomorrow, oh, we've told them all goodbye
We buried them in this hole we both dug
And we can't retrace our footsteps, yesterday has lost it's light
And this time we've run completely out of love

This time we found a mountain neither one of us can cross
And a valley where the sun don't ever shine
And this time we just can't make it, all the love we had is lost
And we've run completely out of love this time

This time we found a mountain neither one of us can cross
And a valley where the sun don't ever shine
Lord, this time we just can't make it, all the love we had is lost
And we've run completely out of love this time
Yes we've run completely out of love this time
