Marty Robbins, Overhurt And Underloved

One too many times ya made me die inside One too many times ya stripped me of my pride The straw that broke the camel's back broke this heart of mine Cause you overhurt and underloved me one too many times

One too many times ya caused my tears to flow And one too many times ya made my heartaches show We've reached the point of no return we've crossed that parting line Cause you overhurt and underloved me one too many times

One too many times ya found a way to bring me down One too many times ya left me cryin' on the ground Love is on a dead end street with a flashin' danger sign You overhurt and underloved me one too many times

One too many times ya caused my tears to flow And one too many times ya made my heartaches show We've reached the point of no return we've crossed that parting line Cause you overhurt and underloved me one too many times You overhurt and underloved me one too many times
