Marty Robbins, Possession Is Nine Tenths Of The

You love him I know but I won't let you go I just won't step out of the way Cause you're married to me and I won't set you free Possession is nine tenths of the law so they say I'll keep you as long as I possibly can you were mine before he came our way I refuse you are mine and I won't step aside Possession is nine tenths of the law so they say Forgive me for being so selfish but for me there is no other way I just want to hold on to what's rightfully mine Possession is nine tenths of the law so they say [steel] Forgive me for being so selfish...