

Marty Robbins, Spanish Lullaby - 1967

This my friends is an old Spanish lullaby
And it's been handed down from generation to generation
And in it a father is singing to his baby son
And he's telling him close your eyes little one and sleep
And dream while the angels watch over you
I will hold your hand and when you wake with the morning I'll still be here
