

Matenrou Opera, Sara (english)

Skin feeling as if it was melting, leaking sighs entwining
All, entirely from our
Our fingertips grope along
Since I've been kept waiting, I've got trouble holding back my desires as it is...
Don't go
The traces of warmth left on my cheek is from you, parting
I understood... however, in the end, I fell in love with you
My body heat rose from that mouth loving my body
During that moment, now vague, the pain in my body rose since I felt inside of you
'Cause it seemed like you didn't even say goodbye
It was mortifying, but I had come to liking you
Now, the night when I touched you will live inside my chest
Since I'm giving you the freedom to do this,
Look at me more, more, and more
During that moment, now vague, the pain in my body rose from feeling inside you
Don't go...
The warmth left on my cheek from before was from your parting
I understood... however, in the end, I fell in love with you
'Cause it seemed like you didn't even say goodbye
It was mortifying, but I had come to liking you
The night when I touched you will live inside my chest