

Matt Pond PA, Trees And The Wild

The future is belligerent tells me work and worry even without sense
you stick to plans

concepts are embarrassing when you let them drink they tell you what they think i'm not listening

i look back to the trees and the wild
i look back to see you smile

my street is ambivalent it makes sure to tell me doesn't have to know if i come or go

i've heard of people building houses i heard they use their arms somewhere so much stronger i think i wander

i can beat myself up with success and daring better than you could i think i'm pretty good

i look back to see you smile...
