

Matt Wertz, Yesterday Morning (Live Version)

Yesterday morning every part of her just shut down getting out of bed never felt so difficult before And every step she took lead to the wrong direction she never made it out her door...yeah yeah

Yesterday morning, Jamie yielded to all she hates she despises so much, why did she give in It seems like this violence just can't be won she's stuck here alone again

She said, she said I'm so sick of this humble, stumble
I've been calling "walk";
She said I'm so tired of the mumble, this mumble
I describe as "talk";
Now I think it's time I losed myself to the one who found me here...found me here
found meeeeeee, found me here

'Cause yesterday morning every part of her just shut down all that she knew, or THOUGHT she knew, flew out that door Things she loved, so easily forgotten
And now Jamie cannot love no more, no more..ohhh

She said, she said I'm so sick of this stumble, the stumble
I've been calling "walk";
She said I'm so tired of the mumble, this mumble
I've described as "talk";
Now I think this time, I losed myself
to the one who found me here...found me here
found meeeeeee, found me here

'Cause though we're so sick of the stumble, stumble we've been calling "walk";
And though we're so tired of the mumble, this mumble we've described as "talk";
Now we know it's time, lose ourselves to the one who found us find us here, find us here find us here
