Matthew Sweet, Get Older

Who cares if they don't think your cool? They make everything about rules And your older than that now Get older The world will fall into its place You may be sad When you get older You might be happy just to stay

Who cares if you don't know what you want 'Cause they don't know what they've got And you cannot resist Get older Your memories won't slip away And you'll be glad When you get older That you were happy for today Who cares?

Get older The world will fall into its place You may be sad When you get older You might be happy just to stay Resist Get older Your memories won't slip away And you'll be glad When you get older That you were happy for today Who cares?

If you don't know what you want If you don't know what you want If you don't know what you want If you don't know what you want
