Matthew Sweet, The Alcohol Talking

Do you realize you're laughing while you're reaching for the gin Even though I threaten that I'm never coming back again The sweetest song you sing will never calm my fear 'Cause once the alcohol is talking, you're not even here

Look into my eyes and tell me I have been the only one And that you put a limit on the things that you might do for fun I tell myself there's nothing I should really fear It's just the alcohol that's talking, you're not even here That's right

Yes I figured out, hey you, that time is never gonna change You say you get your life in order but you only rearrange To say I'm disappointed, it isn't really fair It's just the alcohol that's talking, I don't even care It's just the alcohol that's talking, you're not even here That's right That's all
