Maureen McGovern, Don't Like Goodbyes

Don't like goodbyes, tears, or sighs I'm not too good at leavin' time I got no taste for grievin' time No no, not me

You've been my near ones, always my dear ones I never thought that I would find Another love, a different kind But it came to be

Well, if you think I'm tellin' you lies, Go try your luck and look into his eyes But remember, you must remember he's mine And my world overhead has a clear new shine

Don't want to leave you, sorry to grieve you It's travelin' time and I must move on Found the man to lean upon And if I could arrange it, Oh, would I care to change it, not me
