

Mayer Hawthorne, Her Favorite Song

Friday night and the scene is bright at (Avalon) I walk straight to the bar in a party dress, yes I told the bartender pour a shot and make it strong because she needs it, tearing up she proceeded to be drunk you can see it, tearing up you can see it in her eyes

but when she gets home
she puts her headphones on she plays her favorite song and fades away
when the music's on
she can do no wrong
where she feels safe and calm
and it's okay

and she says
papaparaprapa the world keeps turning it goes on yeah she'll say
papaparaprapa the world keeps turning it goes on

night before, had a date with a boy from (Avalon) said he'd meet her at the diner at 9 o'clock (laid the boots on line and laid on extra don) she got a table set for two but he never made it through and she tried to play it cool while she cried

but when she gets home
she puts her headphones on
she plays her favorite song
and fades away

when the music's on
she can do no wrong
where she feels safe and calm
and it's okay

and she says
papaparaprapa the world keeps turning it goes on
yeah she'll say
papaparaprapa the world keeps turning it goes on

got to shake it off, shake it,
got to shake it off, shake it
got to shake it off, shake it got to shake it off

got to shake it off, shake it,
got to shake it off, shake it
got to shake it off, shake it
got to shake it off

and she says
papaparaprapa the world keeps turning it goes on
yeah she'll say
papaparaprapa the world keeps turning it goes on

got to shake it off, shake it,
got to shake it off, shake it
got to shake it off, shake it

got to shake it off