

Medication, Inside

Is it time for me to say goodbye
Seeing everything has make me blind
Maybe just one time if I could fly
Maybe I could live before I die
Knocking only once
I now sell everything for you
Understand I'll try
Before I die to break on through
What about you
Hoping everything will be alright
Listening to the things I have inside
Why does everybody seem to lie
Maybe I could live before I die
I would die for you
I would kill anything for you
I would sell anything for you
Anything, I would sell anything
What about you
