

Medication, Now And Again

i see so clearly
for all it has been
look back you've blackened my memories how fast the time flies burning my eyes
i'm blinded by kindness
screaming at me
trying and lying believing deceiving
i listen to you i don't hear anything crying and dying
and dying i'm dead
look at me now and again
lost in this dream
awaken to see the lack of light is crippling me i put my head into the machine i hold on to something here breathing in me
walk away my friend
i've fallen down
too much too late
i've been here
