Medicine, Time Baby Iii

Sometimes it rains inside my head All the words run dry Walls are breathing hands are reaching up To touch my thigh

No they don't have to take you away No they don't have to take you away No they don't have to take you away No they don't have to take you away

Sometimes it's bright inside my head Just like the spark in my eyes And hands are breathing ones are reaching up Cause that's the time we rise

No they don't have to take you away (That's breaking away again) No they don't have to take you away
