

Mega City Four, What's Up

Hey you what's happening?
I just got back yesterday
I called you up you had'nt moved
Some things I can rely on Every time that I return you're in the same position Is it some competition to see how little you can change see how little difference you can make?
Different today
You tell me nothing ever changes just rearranges in your life But somehow the years are feeding your fears There's a little more bitterness every time I come round here you're different today But change for the sake of it is really no change at all.
