

Megadeth, Life In Hell

Busted, caught red-handed again
You can't be trusted, born to lose, you'll never win
You're so corrupted, you stand before us condemned
So maladjusted to-the-world we're living-and-dying-in

Spy versus spy, you will never have friends
You deny, the truth of where you've been
You get caught, and then the "blame-game" begins

A couple drinks and then you'll feel ok
A couple pills makes the world go away
What the hell, you're gonna die anyway and you'll say...

I'm a disease, and I'm addicted to myself
I'm all I need, I'm gonna live and die in Hell

No fingerprints, you erased you exist
Kill or be killed, how you get your kicks
Over, and over, you just couldn't resist

A couple drinks and then you'll feel ok
A couple pills makes the world go away
What the hell, you're gonna die anyway and you'll say...

I'm a disease, and I'm addicted to myself
I'm all I need, I'm gonna live and die in... Hell

Only a fool would do what you've done
You lie, you steal, and you cheat everyone
When you're caught in your most despicable deed
You plead the court for Diplomatic Immunity

You may be eloquent with your savoir faire
But each time the smoke clears, another body's there
You've had more than your share of good advice
There's nothing left to say, now except "Have a life"

Their faces haunt your dreams, each, and every night
When it gets too much, in your ring there's cyanide
Now everything fades out and you depart just like a ghost
The Devil says, "Welcome to Hell, I am your host"

There's no reason left to say goodbye!
There's no reason left to live or die
Judgment's waiting, it's the end of the line

Your existence and this twisted game
The definition of criminally insane
It won't be long until you do it again, you'll see!

I'm a disease (Life in Hell)
I'm all I need (Die in Hell)
I'm a disease (Life in Hell)
I'm all I need (Die in Hell)

I'm a disease (Life in Hell)
I'm all I need (Die in Hell)
I'm a disease (Life in Hell)
I'm all I need (Die in Hell)