

Meganoidi, Another Day

Let me eat this light because I've dreamt too much To put myself outside those insane conversations For the first time I can organize my fever waiting for the dusk so we can come together and now try to hold me tight stay! another day

and luck will be with us
'cause we need we really need some
stay another day
don't let me back against their last and brazen attack

Remember what we've said, settle the score avenge yourself and even if Darkness comes to ask for the bill we'll keep on shining as we promised on the purple hill so hold me tight
