

Mel Tillis, Lonely Girl

Do you remember me lonely girl in your guilty memory
My love you traded for the night world where all your dreams met with tragedy
Now do you remember how I love you so
On my knees I cry and I beg you please don't go
Now it's too late for us lonely girl and I'm sorry I ran in to you
But the love you traded for the night world found happiness with somebody new [fiddle]
Now do you remember...
