

Melanie C, Everything Must Change

I'm beginning to get a little tired
Of the misconceived idea
Of who you seem to think I am
Although it looks that this come easy
You know for well I've had my problems
And I've cried

Don't be so quick to criticize me
Don't dismiss me out of hand

It's not over, simply changing
And no one is to blame
I believe in, what I'm feeling
And nothing stays the same
Everything must change

Could anything I say provoke you
Take a chance, go ahead try something new
Can you truly, hand in heart admit you feel good
About everything you say or do

I don't mean to criticize you
You just need to understand

It's not over, simply changing
And no one is to blame
Just believe in, what you're feeling
Cos nothing stays the same
No don't fight it, don't deny it
You'll find yourself again
Just believe in, what you're feeling
'Cos nothing stays the same
Everything must change

Are we so different afterall?
Everything must change

It's not over, simply changing
And no one is to blame
Just believe in, what you're feeling
Cos nothing stays the same
No don't fight it, don't deny it
You'll find yourself again
Just believe in, what you're feeling
'Cos nothing stays the same

It's not over
Simply changing
No don't fight it
Don't deny it

Everything must change