

Melissa Dori Dye, Faded And Jaded

i was always there but you were not there for me and i became tired of waiting and wound up hating you, hating, hating you said i was the only one for you in your life year later i find out you're unfaithful and lie you're just so phony loved you but you hurt me so then why should i try i became faded and jaded

i don't ever listen cause you're not on tv i just tune you out
i won't clean the kitchen cause you don't love me and i've had enough you make it impossible who i'm suppose to be i am faded and jaded

i work i pay half the bills their all in my name you get mad and throw the things i have and complain love you but some things cannot be the same
i became faded and jaded

i don't ever listen cause you're not on TV
i just tune you out
i won't clean the kitchen cause you don't love me and i've had enough

you make it impossible who i'm suppose to be
i am faded and jaded

i'm being mistreated i bet you think i like it
'm faded and jaded now i'm gonna write it all down love can take you only so far sometimes we hurt the ones we love no not the ones we really love ada more yada more yada i don't wanna hear it i don't ever miss you cause you're not on TV my real friends are TV stars who live inside the screen you make it impossible who i'm suppose to be

i am faded and jaded

i was always there but you were not there for me and i became tired of waiting and i wound up hating you

Written By Melissa Dori Dye
2005 Meladori Publishing, ASCAP