

Melissa Dori Dye, He's This Light

see this light here in me it's him and i know
someday he will see it
i can even feel him now he's this pain here in me someday he will free it say aloud all of your dreams tell me now do you actually dream him do you actually dream him?

and i said yes, yes
i'm impatient, i'm a mess but i'll never let go
how do you know?
and i said

see this light here in me
it's him and i know
someday he will see it
i can even feel him now
he's this pain here in me
someday he will free it

tell me now why is it you cry we love who we love do what do there's no reason to hide but i said yes, yes i'm a fool and second best only in my eyes not in the eyes of the love in which i dream

see this light here in me
it's him and i know
someday he will see it
i can even feel him now

he's this pain here in me
someday he will free it

since i met him i've been so deeply in love even though he lives on another planet
and i said yes, yes
i'm impatient
i'm a mess
but i'll never let go
how do you know?

and i said
don't hide it sing it
scream it ahh - ha

see this light here in me
it's him and i know
someday he will free it
i can even feel him now
he's this pain here in me
someday he will see it
cause he's this light
see this light here in me
it's him and i know

someday he will see it
cause he's this light
i can even feel him now
someday he will free it
cause he's this light

Written By: Melissa Dori Dye

2005 Meladori Publishing, ASCAP