

Mellow Candle, Dan The Wing

Hell's awake and the devil crows greet the day with a gale that blows
beyond his furthest realm into Daniel's kingdom.
Who has woken who has broken
Dan the Wing's infernal dreams?
The devil's croak and gale
awoke Daniel from his dreams.

Dan's awake and the starlings fly rooks and ravens fill the sky around his mighty head rising from the mountain.
"Who has woken who has broken
every nightmare's bridle so?
I think I smell the gales of Hell,
I think I smell the devil!"

"Dan!" the ravens cry, "Beware
and heed no sign on that gale Dan, the devil calls you beckons you to Hell!
Dan, the devil calls you, Dan!"

Dan's away with a mighty roar spans the sky till he spies the shore of Hell and the Sea of Sin and the blackness of that ocean Hell's a-grumbling, Daniel's tumbling
from the sky at the devil's curse:
"The Sinful Sea of Hell will be Dan the Fin's dominion!"

"Dan!" the ravens cry, "The devil
wrote your name on that gale Dan, the devil called you beckoned you to Hell!
Dan, the devil has you now!"