

Melvins, Annum

So he takes it once again
I didn't like you having one
And like a dream I could tear into that Overboard with happiness
We're so gone
We're so free
With every everyone
And make it sure
I can deal with the dream but have a picture taken there
She can feel, she can scream, and two caught screamers happened like they say
You can feel like a teen / that walked out through the door with
But I can peel you at the seams
And I can be your only
You don't seem like them
With all the houses that you'll be
And I can leave them lonely
And let it be away.
I wish there was a way for me
And she can never lie that we were
And I can feel, I can feel it's Sunday morning maybe like we said
We can roll like a hundred lies
She never takes you where know
Like a sore
Like a bill of certain money money no
But I can peel you at the seams
And I can be your only
You don't seem like them
With all the houses that you'll be
And I can leave them lonely
And let it be away.
And is it about you left them there?
Do you feel like you're the same?
I can go like a million times you never let me over there
I'm so bull I can hear your song in mourning only I would know
I can feel, I can scream
I can feel you like you never have again
And I know I can send it down on Monday morning
Raise your fist
Like a doe
Like I feel
An only man a man oh.
