

Meredith Edwards, Places In Your Heart

You play a good game
You seem so secure
I knew when we met, I'd never forget
Those twinkling eyes of yours
Behind your sweet smile
The confident words
I saw room for me
And I wanted to say
Things that you've never heard

There are places in your heart
That have never been touched
Waiting for someone to show you true love
And I wouldn't have to reach very far
To touch those places in your heart

Whatever it takes
To make you believe
From the depths of my soul, I want you know
I would do anything
I will be here
Just a whisper away
When you're ready to fly I will be by your side
Forever and always

There are places in your heart
That have never been touched
Waiting for someone to show you true love
And I wouldn't have to reach very far
To touch those places in your heart

Only a love that is true
Could ever reveal to you

There are places in your heart
That have never been touched
Waiting for someone to show you true love
And I wouldn't have to reach very far
To touch those places in your heart

In your heart, your heart
And I wouldn't have to reach very far
To touch those places in your heart
In your heart, your heart
To touch those places in your heart
