

Meridene, Complete, Tonight

It's the sad dance of leaves as they fall from the trees a beautiful bright colored funeral and you straighten your dress to admire the mess of their bodies piled on the concrete and I take the time, to take up your hand you hum a solemn tune

You know it's true, the way that you move sends the devils back to rest, over me

October is cold the farther you go to the north of your native Georgia but you say here with me the frost has been sweet and love takes on many disguises and I watched the words hang in the air a cloud of frozen steam

You know it's true, that I will love you a little more than you will love....

But we're all waltzing in time keeping with the kick drum we sway in low light
fear in your eyes
I loved you completely tonight
I love you complete tonight

It doesn't seem fair that the snow in your hair seems to make you more invincible and Wisconsin it keeps that pink in your cheeks eyelashes icy and blinking while winter is key with you in your coat and your soggy bottomed jeans

You know it's true, the way that you move it sends the devils back to rest...

But we're all waltzing in time
keeping with the kick drum
we sway in low light
I can see the distance and
fear in your eyes
I loved you completely tonight
I love you complete tonight

a beautiful bright colored funeral
