

Merril Bainbridge, Song For Neen

Little flower how you've grown so fast
Seems like only yesterday
Little flower how your beauty lasts
It always will to me

Floating in around the trees
Flighty as an autumn breeze
Nothing has upset you
All the pain has left you

Little flower lying in the sun
How you soak up every ray
Little flower take it while you're young
It may never shine again

When you open up I see
What a gift you've given me
Nothing has upset you
All the pain has left you

Little flower have you grown to be
Everything you wanted
Little flower is your earth complete
It always seems to be

What we give we reap and sow
Closer to me that you know
I could never let you go
I would never want to
