

Mesh, My Hands Are Tied

You could be free
You could be free
You never tire of reminding me
You could be free

You've spent some time on your own
You're used to living alone
In all the space that you find for me
You've spent some time on your own

It's always the same
You're just no good at the game
It's always the same

You can't leave us broken
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
All these wounds you've opened
(It hurts inside; it's not the same for you)
You can't freeze that moment
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
Break this home; you own it
(It hurts inside; it's not the same for you)

Save your breath for someone
Hold that thought for someone else
You know that one thing never changes
Don't blame it on yourself

You can believe
If you wanted to leave
It lessens the pain received
You can believe

You think you're made out of stone
You say you're harder alone
That's not a face that you've shown to me
I'll think you'll suffer to know

It's always the same
You're just no good at the game
It's always the same

You can't leave us broken
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
All these wounds you've opened
(It hurts inside; it's not the same for you)
You can't freeze that moment
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
Break this home; you own it
(It hurts inside; it's not the same for you)

Save your breath for someone
Hold that thought for someone else
You know that one thing never changes
Don't blame it on yourself

You can't leave us broken
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
All these wounds you've opened
(It hurts inside; it's not the same for you)
You can't freeze that moment
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
Break this home; you own it
(It hurts inside; it's not the same for you)

(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
You can't leave us broken
(My hands are tied; there's nothing saved for you)
You can't leave us broken
(My hands are tied, so tell me what we do)
You can't leave us broken
