

Mest, Night Alone

This wasn't just another night alone
My mind has cornered me against the wall
Bleeding, scratching fingernails are gone
The scars on my wall tell this song

I'm feeling like the worst is yet to come
Because the night has just begun

Please let me breathe, you're choking me and my feelings
This is my fault, downward I fall
My mind slipping, my mind slipping away

I never thought this night could come again
My mind has proven me wrong in the end
The confidence in me is wearing thin
No matter what, my mind will win

Please let me breathe, you're choking me and my feelings
This is my fault, downward I fall
My mind slipping, my mind slipping away

Please let me breathe, you're choking me and my feelings
Please let me breathe, you're choking me and my feelings
My feelings
This is my fault, downward I fall
My mind slipping, my mind slipping away