

Mia Rose, Friends in love

Stop playing with my heart the way you're doing You keep pushing me away, then your pulling me right back in Playing these games when you know im already falling Stop speaking through the lines and say it bluntly tired of reading through your smiles to see the truth behind This circle of two thats leaving me always hoping I wait for you to come and save me
I Hope that you will come and show me and tell me...
That you cant take me off your mind
That you were just scared to read the signs
That we could actually be something more then friends in love
Then I would tell all the things That I have been to let you know and we could actually be something more the friends in love Stop making me a fool to think you need me Stayed true to your life through the ups and downs waiting for moments im scared might never happen Cuz i cant stop thinking about the future and if you cant start telling me your feelings Im gonna have to find someone that completes me
If you wont tell me that you..
