

Michael Bolton, Call my way

You and I sailed away to a place We once called paradise We were young and deep in our love And