

Michael Penn, Footdown

In a little while I'll forget your name and with the time we had I will do the same
'cause I can't belong
to any future
the past's a
never ending overture
until it's only now
no matter how
I put my foot down
I want to know my rank and I want my reward or I will make a little war that you can not afford I don't mean to be
somehow unkind
but the bottom of my heart is in the backseat
of my mind
it's a drive with will I guess until
I put my foot down
I don't mean to be
somehow unkind
but when I put my best foot forward
something's left behind I'm gonna tell you now I'm going to make a vow to put my foot down
