

Michael Schenker Group, A King Has Gone

sad, but it's true well, that part of our heart where you lived has now turned to blue sing me a song with desire setting the whole world on fire you have arrived not at the gates of babylon sacred, you holy dive these memories lasting forever remain in our thoughts here together a king has gone

you gave us rock, you made us roll a king has gone - oh we fools to cry on watching the rainbows' rising

this story to tell the ruling of dragons between heaven and hell bringing the hymns to our nation with the magical voice of salvation
