

Michael Schenker Group, Illusion From The Unforgiven

You've gotta give it all that you've got
No it's never labour if that's what you love
Tonight we're going over the top

And maybe changing the pace
One thing is for certain
It's all rearranged when comes the push
Here's how it feels
Pushing through your life of illusion
You've got to push it to the limit
Change the station
Into the light and through the confusion

When night-time comes we're rolling into your town
If we've been to sleep or not
It's just begun and once we're really moving on We're never wanting to stop

So let us take you away
Living for the minute
And yes for today in for the push
Push it to the limit

Well one is too little and ten is not enough
You've gotta give it all that you've got
No it's never labour if that's what you love
Tonight we're going over the top
And never changing the pace
One thing's for certain
We're all rearranged when comes the push
Mode is interplay
