

Michael Tolcher, Mission Responsible

Be a part of an institution lead the way in a revolution wear a wig and a permanent smile be a part of a celebration make the plans or the cancelation quick descisions
lets change our minds
well there's people out there
but it's people we are
were just faces from different places drinkin juice from mason jars i'm on a mission responsible

say your good-byes

be a father of no realation or be a symbol for procreation strike a match and theres sure to be fire be a part of your situation blame yourself for your frustration dig a hole till you lose your desire

well there's people out there
but it's people we are
were just names playing different games drinking coke and eating candy bars

i'm on a mission responsible
say your good-byes

well i'm finding anything's possible
closing your eyes
closing your eyes
closing your eyes

be a part of your own descision see your future with tunnel vision take a chance if you want to survive you do want to survive, don't you?
be the talk of a conversation your a superstar out of isolation get the keys
its your turn to drive

well there's people out there
and it's people we are we're just voices with different choices smokin dope and rockin out on guitars

im on a mission responsible
say your good-byes

well i'm finding anything's possible
closing your eyes

well i'll put it all to rest now this shit is off my chest and everytime i turn around i don't see trees falling down and there's someting that we can buy well i'm sure you would agree although you seem to fight with me but there's a situation here that doesn't seem to want to dissappear and it doesn't no it won't go away and we must do something now you see we can't go along cus i can see it in the swollen eyes of the story tellers that they're wrong and every single word that they write and thats what i'm goin' to fight to survive

and its my only desire to elevate the spirit and cultivate the higher rhythms and rhymes
for living
is blind
and in and alternate reality its trapped up in your mind Freedom!

im on a mission responsible
say your good-byes
im on a mission responsible
say your good-byes