

Michael Tomlinson, Sunlight

All of your mysteries, I look in your eyes
Why do I need answers to love's surprise
Fell in love easy, when did we start
Well I don't know you but I know your heart
I walk beside you, I brush your arm
The sun makes us sleepy like early, early wine
Drinking your kisses, breathing your hair
When I wake from the dream will you still be there
As love grows
We both know the world has changed
Somehow we've been rearranged
I knew love would come if we just let go
But love like this I've never known
Sunlight will find a way
Sunlight will find a way

Moments are passing shadows on skin
I hear you laughing, will you call me in Looking out windows, where is this dream
Does it feel good to you like love again
It's a little bit magic, something like smoke
I'm a little bit lonely every time you go
Colors from rainbows scatter like wind
When I wake from the dream will you come again?

All of your mysteries I look in your eyes
Why do I need answers to love's surprise
Fell in love easy when did we start
Well I don't know you but I know your heart
