

Michelle Tumes, Heaven's Heart

Just as the stars illuminate the sky, the heart of God has expressed the beauty of love before the beginning of time.

How can I resist such tender love
Deeper than the deep blue sea
Love as constant as the morning tide
Let You love wash over me
Let You love wash over
How can I resist such gentle love
Whispered on the evening breeze
Love as soothing as the moonlight
Let Your love shine down on me
Let Your love shine down

Heaven's hope was written in the stars
Before the mark of time
Your heart and mine were destined to entwine you're calling, calling, calling to me
And I'm falling into love
Sweet love, so heavenly

I feel Your presence all around me
With me everywhere I go
Through the road I take may wander
Love will always lead me home
Love will always lead
It's a deep and wondrous thing
This mystery I know
I feel heaven reaching out inside my soul
