

Midnight Fall, The Windy City Blew Away One Fo

I'd walk on broken glass for you...

We all have to move on
But I'd like to stay here
Where we've belonged for years

Now, time has burned a hole
And cut apart the four
That are my everything

There's a table waiting on the western side of town
Where we would sit and talk all night

There are 4 hearts beating
One up north, and 3 down south
That would kill to be one again

I'd walk on broken glass for you

Dont let me let chicago take you away

Though many may have tried
To make a heart that has four sides
No one did it like we did

But time come as it may
It hurts to have to say goodbye

How many times can I say that I love you and I miss you?

i'd walk on broken glass for you

Don't let me let chicago take you away

(Chorus)
