

Miguel Bose, Child (Anak)

When you were born into this world
Your mom and dad saw a dream fulfilled
Dream come true, the answer to their prayers.

The world to them was a special child
They even enjoy every time you smile
Its time to cry
Theyre at your side again.

Child you dont know, youll never know
How far theyd go to give you
All their love can give.

To see you through, and God its true
Theyd die for you, if they must
To see you live.

Many seasons came and went
So many years have now been spent
For time ran fast and now at last youre strong.

Now what is scattered over you?
You seem to hate your parents, too
Speak out your mind
Why do you find them wrong?

Child you dont know, youll never know
How far theyd go to give you
All their love can give.

To see you through, and God its true
Theyd die for you, if they must
To see you live.

And now your path has gone astray
Child you aint sure what to do or say
Youre so alone, no friends are on your side.

And child, you now break down in tears
Let them drive away your fears
You must to go
Their arms stay open wide.

Child you dont know, youll never know
How far theyd go to give you
All their love can give.

To see you through, and God its true
Theyd die for you, if they must
To see you live.

To see you through, and God its true
Theyd die for you, if they must
To see you live.

To see you through, and God its true
Theyd die for you, if they must
To see you live.