Mike And The Mechanics, Another Cup Of Coffee

And she pours herself another cup of coffee As she contemplates the stain across the wall and it's in between the cleaning and the washing That's when looking back's The hardest part of all And she always did her best to try and please him

While he always did his best to make her cry And she got down on her knees to stop him leaving But he always knew one day he'd say goodbye

Where are your friends Where are your children

Is this your house Is this your home

Does nothing ever last forever Does everybody sleep alone

And he tears the business tags from his old suitcase As he packs away the pieces of his life

They all love him but they always try to change him That's what happens when a girl becomes a wife And she pours herself another cup of coffee As the pictures leave a clean space on the wall and it's in between the leaving and the loving

That's when looking back's The hardest part of all Where are your friends

Where are your children Is this your house

Is this your home

Does nothing ever last forever Does everybody sleep alone Don't look back

Don't give up

Pour yourself another cup